

MILITARY RECRUITMENT, REALITY and RETURN

Film Screening and Discussion with Filmmakers hosted by Raul Matta of AFSC Western Massachusetts

Sunday, April 30, 2006, 1:30pm

Academy of Music
274 Main Street, Northampton MA

Three incredible films, in a youth-centered event:

All That I Can Be

A first-hand look at the military recruiting process from the lens of New York high school students. All That I Can Be is the winner of the Economic Justice Award at the Fifth Annual Media that Matters Film Festival in June 2005.

Occupation: Dreamland

Occupation: Dreamland documents the lives of soldiers as they embark on the military assault of Fallujah in the winter of 2004. Occupation: Dreamland won the Best Documentary at the Memphis Film Festival 2005. It also was an award winner at the Full Frame Documentary Film Festival 2005 in recognition of the film's "potential to engage audiences to meaningful action that results in concrete impact and social change."

Purple Hearts

Tells the story of wounded soldiers upon returning home.

$5 admission charge (free tickets are available by calling AFSC, 413.584.8975)

Information about ways to get involved in local truth in recruiting work will be available. This event is part of Nostoi: Stories of War and Return: <http://nostoi.hampshire.edu/home.html>.

For more information: 413.584.8975

