

These Hands & Project 6

*Join us for a night of stories and performance.
No one is free till we're all free, exploring racism and whiteness.*

These Hands is a storytelling piece, created and performed by Nicole le Roux, that takes place in our community and South Africa, combines a unique collection of non-traditional theater techniques. In this story, she embodies a new narrative of whiteness and explores this new way of talking with her audience.

Project 6 is a documentary drama piece, performed by guest artist Chelsea Gregory in collaboration with the Eradicating Racism initiative. In the wake of the controversy surrounding the Jena 6 Case, Chelsea created a series of monologues that explore white American feelings about race, and its impact on personal lives as well broader issues.

Thursday Feb. 19

Doors Open 6:00pm

Red Barn, Hampshire College