

The Climate Responsibilities of Fossil Fuel Companies in a Carbon-Constrained World

---

Peter Frumhoff

Director of Science & Policy and Chief Climate Scientist at the Union of Concerned Scientists

---

Thursday, April 4th, 5pm

West Lecture Hall,
Franklin Patterson Hall,
Hampshire College

For decades, fossil fuel companies orchestrated campaigns of doubt and deception on climate science to avoid limits on carbon pollution from the use of their products. Now, exciting new science is informing legal, shareholder and civil society actions to hold fossil fuel companies accountable for their outsized contributions to the climate crisis.

Dr. Frumhoff's presentation will be followed by a panel discussion with Ray Bradley, University Distinguished Professor in the Department of Geosciences and Director of the Climate System Research Center at UMass, Amherst, and Laura Draucker, the Director of Sustainability at Amherst College.

A catered reception will follow the panel.
